The Bootheel Pilot Program – A Paid Opportunity to Participate!

The Missouri Breast Health Coalition (MBHC) has received funding to design a community-led breast health model in the Bootheel. We want this pilot to reflect local wisdom and real experiences, so we're hosting separate 60-minute focus groups with survivors/advocates, community-based organizations, and providers to better understand what's working, what's not, and what's needed to improve breast health access, navigation, and trust.

We'd love for you to join a focus group and share your insights in a confidential setting.

Sessions will take place in early December and participants will be paid for their time. If you're interested or would like to recommend someone, please complete this Google Form or respond via email to mobreasthealth@gmail.com with your responses or questions by November 30th. A brief summary of the focus group findings will be shared with participants, and your input will shape next steps. We look forward to hearing from you!!
